

Mikael Colville-Andersen

Mikael Colville-Andersen is the CEO for Copenhagenize Consulting and is often referred to as Denmark's Bicycle Ambassador.

For over three years he has been documenting Copenhagen's unique bicycle culture in photographs and films. A social documentary from an anthropological perspective. Surprisingly, in 120 years of the bicycle in Denmark, he's the first one to do so.

He presents his ongoing series to the world on two blogs:

Colville-Andersen travels the world advising cities and towns about how to reestablish the bicycles as a respected, accepted and feasible transport form on the urban landscape. He lectures about Copenhagen's journey to becoming the world's cycling capital and highlights how other cities can be inspired to create more liveable cities, using the bicycle as a fantastic tool.
